DO WHAT YOU CAN By Jonnie Hutchison

The present pandemic has changed our lives in a number of ways. There are some things we can no longer do and remain safe. Visitation at hospitals and nursing facilities have been limited. Assembling for worship and Bible classes has been curtailed. Family and social gatherings have been greatly restricted. Many have had to quarantine in their homes after having been exposed to or contacting the virus. Needless to say the majority of people are more than ready for normalcy to be restored to their lives. As Christians we struggle with these necessary restrictions and continuing to do what we can in fulfilling our obligations to God, the church and the lost.

Solomon wrote, “Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with your might; for there is no work or device or knowledge or wisdom in the grave where you are going” (Ecclesiastes 9:10). To the church in Colossae the inspired Paul wrote, “And whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord and not to men, knowing that from the Lord you will receive the reward of the inheritance; for you serve the Lord Christ” (Colossians 3:23-24). In spite of the restrictions placed upon us in our present situation, we can find a way to continue to serve the Lord and one another. We may be restricted from visiting in person those in the hospital, nursing facilities, shut-ins, etc., but we can find a way to do what we can do. We can visit with them with a phone call or sending a letter or card of encouragement, We may not be able to teach the lost in an in person Bible study but we can teach them over the phone or online with a video conferencing app such as FaceTime, Skype or Zoom. We can also direct them to abundant study material online. One may be quarantined at home and unable to attend worship or Bible classes, but he or she still has the ability to pray, sing praises to God and view online worship services and Bible studies. The bottom line is God expects us to do what we can do, not what we cannot.

Let us never use the pandemic as an excuse for not serving the Lord. Do what you can do and God will bless you for it. “And whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord....”

FACING THE STORM By Neal Pollard

Springtime in the plains is a notorious time for storms. I was driving through north-west Texas near the time when three storm chasers were killed southwest of me on Tuesday afternoon. They died pursuing the storm, not directly because of it. They were there because conditions were ripe for tornadoes. 17 people were killed by tornadoes in 2016, but 24 have already died in them this year (this article was written in the spring of 2017). Hollywood has captured our awe and fascination with them since "The Wizard of Oz." We view storms as mysterious, ominous, powerful, and frightening. They come in so many forms - hurricanes, floods, blizzards, cyclones, and more. But "storms" are synonymous with fear and sorrow.

Wouldn't you classify some of the major, traumatic events of your life as storms. They build and threaten, they strike, then they leave aftermath. The storm may take but a moment, but recovery can take days, months, or even years. Not surprisingly, the Bible uses the storm metaphorically to describe such moments in our lives. David wrote, "I would hasten to my place of refuge from the stormy wind and tempest" (Psalm 55:8). The man we most associate with such figurative storms, Job, laments, "You lift up the wind and cause me to ride; And you dissolve me in a storm" (30:22). Most frequently, the Bible uses storms representatively to describe God's judgment. But, as Job and David show, sometimes storms strike the innocent and undeserving.

What do we do when facing a storm? We heed precautions. We take shelter. We wait and endure. We ask for and trust God's protection.

The world is full of people riding out storms today. That includes Christians. These storms are assaulting their bodies, bank accounts, relationships, spiritual strength, and spirits. Some feel safely sheltered, while others feel as if they are barely holding on. How do we face our storms?

⇒ Seek help from others (Heb. 12:12-13; Ecc. 4:9-10).

⇒ Search for possible benefits from it (Psa. 66:10; Rev. 21:3-4; Js. 1:2-4; etc.).

⇒ See God's power to help in it (Psa. 18:19; Rom. 8:28-38; 2 Pet. 2:9a).

⇒ Shelter in the place of safety (Exo. 33:22; Psa. 91:1; Mat. 7:24-27).

God doesn't cause evil or sin, but He allows it. We will always struggle with the "why" of this, but we must not let it stifle our growth and dependence on our great, perfect God when we are being battered. He is faithful. He wants to help. Lean on Him through your storms!

Romans 5:8-9

But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him.
